To Whom It May Concern:

I built a new home on the Snake River in Hammett, Id in 1995.

Having heard of vinyl siding, I felt it was the outside covering that would be best. Due to the ability to clean or hose down the siding it also was flexible and would not dent.

I did do research on several vinyl siding companies and after meeting with Tom Miner; decided to retain him.

I was very satisfied with the efficiency the work was performed. Tom personally, come to my house numerous times after the project was completed to be assured nothing was overlooked.

I would highly recommend Tom Miner and his company to any one interested in siding their buildings.
